ADDOR is pleased to announce a further grant in support of the continued fight against Huntington's disease (HD), providing financial assistance to help an HD sufferer Jeremy Pappin.

Jeremy Pappin

Jeremy now 49 years old is single and lives in Camelford, Cornwall. He was diagnosed with Huntington's disease when he was 25 years old.

Jeremy has suffered with his health condition including mood swings, one of the Huntington's disease traits but is now more positive and whilst he has wanted to live independently without support for many years, unfortunately he has now reached a time where he has agreed to a home help package to support his everyday needs. One area identified as needing urgent support is Jeremy's diet and the purchase of an oven would help him with a balanced food regime.

ADDOR is very pleased to provide a grant of £230 for the purchase of an oven and enhance the quality of his daily diet and life.

If you would like to help in the fight to defeat HD, fund research projects and help others like Jeremy.
